STATE LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

Exciting developments in library automation and information technology set the course for the Department of Libraries during the FY85-86 biennium. Our major challenge was to make a variety of new technologies dovetail with basic library services. Looking back, we realize how far we have come in just two years to bring Vermont into the age of automation without disrupting ongoing informational services to Vermonters.

In FY83, the Department of Libraries, the University of Vermont, and Middlebury College initiated a joint planning process to determine how the Vermont's three major library collections should respond to changes in information technology and dissemination. The original plan was to develop a single vendor joint integrated system for the three institutions. In FY86 the University decided to move in a different direction, and the concept of a single automated system was redesigned to accommodate a linked network in a multivendor environment. The Department, Middlebury College, and the Vermont State Colleges chose a single vendor, Data Research Associates (DRA). Negotiations were finalized and the Department of Libraries signed its contract in May, 1986. Simultaneously, the Department, the University, and Middlebury College signed an agreement to link the individual institutions' automated systems together in a statewide network.

Planning for the implementation of the Vermont Automated Library System (VALS) permeated all units of the Department as a major part of the preparation was accomplished in FY85-86. The DOL general collection of 175,000 titles was converted from catalog cards to machine readable format. Staff task forces worked throughout the period to insure that each separate function of the system when installed would meet the specific present and future needs both of the department and of Vermont's statewide library network.

The "Big System," as we called it, required a great deal of staff energy and effort, but technology was also applied in other areas. Electronic mail for interlibrary loan replaced the teletype network in August, 1984, making the statewide interlibrary loan process more efficient and reducing its cost of operation substantially. Electronic mail access to the majority of state library agencies and other major libraries in the U.S. was also implemented late in FY85 through ALANET, the American Library Association's electronic mail system. Acquisition of library materials was modernized by replacing the traditional mail system with a direct link to the Department's jobber. Former tedious manual compilation and typing tasks such as that of the Vermont public library statistics and the Department's NEWS were computerized.

Information technology became an integral part of the Vermont library scene during the biennium. Technology was introduced in many areas, while access to information was maintained via other automated networks and services introduced in the early 1980's. The Department continued computerized cataloging through OCLC for its materials and those of eligible public libraries. Vermont Centralized Card Service use increased significantly from 60 public libraries participating in FY82 to over 100 in FY86. OCLC use in interlibrary loan also grew, as borrowing from libraries out-of-state to meet the specific needs of Vermont users allowed the Department to increase its ability to successfully fill requests by almost ten percent. Even more interestingly, Vermont libraries were called upon by libraries throughout the nation to lend far more books than they borrowed. RLIN, the research library database, was added to give subject location access to major research collections in the country. Use of national computerized bibiliographic and legal databases also increased steadily through the biennium. Careful planning for new formats and services including CD-ROM and the "Big System" paved the way for the rest of the '80's.

Another major accomplishment in the FY85-86 biennium was the total revision of the Minimum Standards for Vermont Public Libraries. A committee of Board members, Department staff, public librarians, and trustees considered ideas and concerns from libraries, large and small, and held six public hearings during FY85 throughout the state to involve libraries directly. The Board of Libraries approved the revised Standards in June, 1985, and the Legislative Administrative Rules Committee followed with its approval in FY86. In FY85 92 libraries met standards, increasing to 94 in FY86. Over the past decade the number of libraries meeting standards has been a major Departmental accomplishment because in FY76 only 61 libraries met standards.

Despite time and energy devoted to planning and effectively introducing various technologies, services to all user groups flourished during the past two years. The "Reading Revolution" swept through Vermont after several years of ongoing public library adult reading discussion programs as the Department cooperated on two significant projects with the Vermont Library Association and the Vermont Council on the Humanities. VLA received an $18,500 grant for ten series from the ALA/NEH-sponsored "Let's Talk About It" program. In FY85, VLA created the Vermont Reading Project with a $210,000 award from the National Endowment for the Humanities. By the end of FY86, the project was an astounding success with 84 libraries holding 159 series and reaching some 20,000 Vermonters.

Circulation of materials in all formats, book and nonbook, remained steady. The annual summer reading program and materials broke all records in reaching Vermont children. In FY85 85 libraries participated in "Reading Makes Champions," and in FY86 75 took advantage of the materials developed for "Treasure for the Taking." In addition to the wider distribution of summer reading materials, library service to the children of Vermont was supported through travelling exhibits including teddy bears, original art by famous children's illustrators, puppet shows, and the ever-popular Beatrix Potter dollhouse, as well as through development of bibliographies and program aids. Librarians interested in children's services were given the opportunity to attend two annual Smith Lectures. In FY85 Jean Fritz shared her China experiences, and in FY86 Arnold Lobel spoke of the illustrator as storyteller. By voting in the annual Dorothy Canfield Fisher Award program, Vermont children themselves recognized two additional well-known authors; Beverly Cleary and Robert Kimmel Smith won the awards in FY85 and FY86, respectively.

Local public library services to adults and to all Vermonters were also supplemented by the Department. The Special Services Unit was awarded a five-year grant by the Marlin Management Corporation to develop a gerontology collection. The Adult Services Consultant worked with the Vermont Department of Health on "Heart Healthy Vermonters and Public Libraries" and on a similar bone health project with the Dairy Council of Vermont. Regional library supplementary services and materials were actively used by almost 200 public libraries, large and small.

One of the priorities of the Department of Libraries is to upgrade public library service statewide through training of local library personnel. In the FY85-86 biennium 95 one-day and multi-day skills workshops were offered throughout the state. Over 1,000 participants developed expertise in library automation, reference service, cataloging, library administration, children's programming, and collection development. Special orientation sessions and materials for new librarians continued. In FY85-86 22 librarians received certification for completion of 150 hours of training to improve their library skills. Professional librarians and directors of large libraries were refreshed by an annual Management Institute.

Several public library buildings were expanded and upgraded through funds made available by the federal Library Services and Construction Act Title II. Libraries in Williston, Brattleboro, St. Albans, Middlebury, and Bennington received matching grants to increase space and improve access by the handicapped.

Library services to Vermonters with special needs prospered with ongoing federal and state programs providing services and materials to Vermont's 13 state-supported institutions and 1,500 blind and physically handicapped patrons. New, improved quarters with adequate space and parking were constructed at the Midstate Regional Library for the Special Services Unit. Radio and television publicity as well as staffed exhibits at the annual Champlain Valley and Tunbridge World's Fairs helped increase Vermonters' awareness of these special services.

Cooperation and resource sharing among all types of Vermont libraries is both a top priority and a great strength of our library system. Over 160,000 interlibrary loan requests were processed by the Department of Libraries during the FY85-86 biennium. Resource sharing is crucial in a rural state to insure that all citizens have access to information without regard to geographic location, age, socio-economic-educational status or interest. We are pleased that Vermont libraries of all types continue to work together willingly. The result is one of the strongest and most effective statewide resource sharing systems in the nation.

Although planning and implementation of Vermont library services and the integration of new technologies into these services moved forward in FY85-86, many concerns remain unresolved and new challenges must be faced. Postal rates for library materials continue on an upward spiral. Copyright issues for print, microformat, video, and online formated materials remain mired in controversy. Automating larger libraries while providing access for the smallest rural facilities presents a great challenge to us with the Vermont Automated Library System in place. Providing alternatives and opportunities for technological change in all types and sizes of libraries will be a major concern for the next several years.

To improve library services to Vermonters, the Department and its staff participate in state activities as well as in sharing expertise and cooperation nationwide. The Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA) held its annual meeting in Vermont in FY85. Department staff was actively involved in activities of the American Library Association, the Vermont Library Association, the New England Library Association, and the American Association of Law Librarians. Professional staff members were asked by other states such as Rhode Island, Colorado, and South Dakota to share their personal expertise and knowledge in meetings and workshops. The Department, as an agency, participates fully in OCLC, Inc., NELINET (New England Library Information Network), and COSLINE (Chief Officers of Library Agencies in the Northeast). All of these sharing activities bring new knowledge and skills back to Vermont libraries.

Looking back over the past two years, I feel the Department of Libraries positively entered the rapidly changing world of library technology while continuing to provide basic library services to Vermonters on many levels. I would like to thank Governor Kunin and her staff for giving the Department the support to make a smooth transition to automation possible. I would also like to thank the Vermont Board of Libraries under the leadership of Albert Stevens and Marilyn Blackwell for their support and help during the planning for automation and for their willingness to forge ahead with creative solutions to difficult and longstanding problems. The key to success has been the care and interest in cooperation exhibited by the dedicated Department staff and by librarians and trustees statewide who are willing not only to solve perennial problems but also to face up to new challenges. I know that the Department of Libraries, working together with the Vermont library community, will meet the frontiers of a complicated information society with enthusiasm and resolve.

Thank you to all Vermonters and others who have given time to make Vermont's library programs successful. I look forward to working with you to meet each information challenge in our rapidly changing world as it develops.

STATISTICS OF LOCAL LIBRARIES

Explanatory Notes

Public library statistics have been separated from those of other libraries (academic, hospital, institutional, special, school, etc.) and appear first. In both cases, libraries are arranged by municipality, with incorporated towns in upper case letters.

DIRECTORY NO. - refers to listing in VERMONT LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1987

LIBRARY - the word "library" has been dropped from each name

REPORT FOR YEAR ENDING - given due to variation in fiscal year used by individual libraries

POPULATION - 1980 census figures are used, and population is usually given for a town or city with some village populations if known

GRAND LIST - 1986 property tax valuation of the town as a whole is given if known

TAX APPROPRIATION - the source of tax support, whether from town, village, fire district, neighboring town, etc., or a combination, has not been ascertained. Income in kind (heat, lights, rent, etc.) has sometimes been included, and if the library received in-kind support, it is noted with asterisk (*).

TOTAL INCOME - includes gifts, trust income, grant funds, etc., as well as tax and revenue sharing support, and, sometimes, in-kind support. Some funds earmarked for capital expenses are occasionally included.

TAX SUPPORT PER CAPITA - revenue sharing and any known in-kind support were added to tax support, and the total was then divided by the population given. Because the actual population base providing the tax support and the income received in-kind cannot always be ascertained, this figure may only be a rough estimate in some cases.

LIBRARY MATERIALS EXPENDITURES - includes books, periodicals, films, recordings, and other non-book materials, but not supplies or equipment

TOTAL EXPENDITURES - it is possible that overhead (heat, lights, etc.) has not been included; capital expenses are not included

VOLUMES ADDED - generally, books added during the year ending on the date given

TOTAL VOLUMES - in a few instances this figure may include non-book materials

NUMBER OF REGISTERED BORROWERS - children and adults. In many cases, records are not kept

CIRCULATION - total circulation of all forms of library materials, including books owned by the Department of Libraries and circulated locally

NUMBER OF HOURS OPEN - in winter only

Public libraries which met the Vermont Minimum Standards for Public and Community Libraries in 1986 are designed with a dot (●) before the name of the municipality in which they are located.

VERMONT LIBRARY DIRECTORY, 1987

Explantory Notes

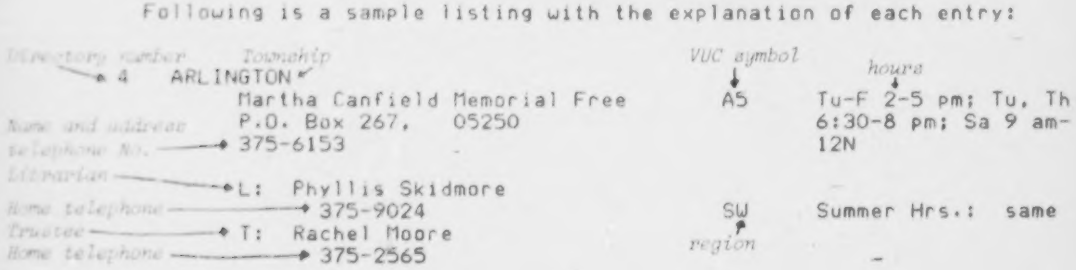
The Vermont Library Directory, 1987 is a revised edition of the Vermont Library Directory, 1985 which was included in the Biennial Report of the Vermont Department of Libraries, July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1984. It is not necessary to retain any previous directory of Vermont libraries although the statistics found in the biennial report may be useful for future comparison.

Corrections, additions and deletions will be published in the bi-monthly Department of Libraries newsletter so that this directory may be kept up to date. Please report corrections, additions, and deletions to:

Marianne K. Cassell, Development and Adult
Services Consultant
Department of Libraries
c/o State Office Building Post Office
Montpelier, VT 05602
(802) 828-3261

Libraries are arranged alphabetically by the township in which they are located. The authority used to determine what is a township is the Vermont Year Book published annually by the National Survey in Chester, Vermont. Cross-references are provided. When more than one library is located in a township, the public library (or libraries) is listed first followed by the other libraries arranged alphabetically by institution.

Following is a sample listing with the explanation of each entry:



DIRECTORY NUMBER - will be used by the Department of Libraries newsletter when listing changes.

TOWNSHIP - in upper case letters. If a library is in a specific village within a township, the village is given in lower case letters as the location (for example, see #7 East Arlington).

NAME & ADDRESS - The word "library" has been dropped from the end of each library's name. The mailing address follows the name, and if the post office is the same as the township, it has also been dropped. Please note that some libraries' mailing address do not correspond to the township or village in which they are located (for example, see #51 BRIGHTON).

VUC SYMBOL - The Vermont Union Catalog symbol is used as short form notation on catalog cards supplied by libraries to the Vermont Union Catalog and in communication dealing with interlibrary loan and resource sharing.

WINTER HOURS - Generally, these hours apply from September through June. For specific dates of change between winter and summer hours, contact the library.

SUMMER HOURS - Usually, these apply in July and August.

TELEPHONE NO. - Usually, the library's business number (if there is one) unless otherwise noted. The area code is 802 unless otherwise indicated.

LIBRARIAN, HOME TELEPHONE NO. - If a telephone number is given, it is usually the librarian's personal home number and should be used with discretion.

REGION - refers to the Vermont Department of Libraries region in which a library is located:

M	Midstate region
NE	Northeast region
NW	Northwest region
SE	Southeast region
SW	Southwest region

TRUSTEE, HOME TELEPHONE NO. - If given, the name is that of the last reported Chairperson or President of a public library's Board of Trustees.

Indexes to this Directory:
- Libraries by Type - listed alphabetically by location with the township in all upper case letters (see below)
- Public Libraries by Region - also listed alphabetically by location
- Names of Libraries (Other than Geographic Place Names)
- Subject Strengths and Special Collections - subjects reported by librarians are listed alphabetically with locations noted by VUC symbols. When attempting to judge the degree of strength refer to the type of library, the size of its collection and/or explicit indication of designated special collections.
- Vermont Union Catalog (VUC) symbols
- Other Important Addresses
